3450 Copyright, Ownership, Publication Rights, Inventions, and Patents

The College encourages innovation, experimentation, invention, research, and development of the body of knowledge. The President of the College has the responsibility to enforce copyright and patent policy and procedures, although the President of the College may delegate this responsibility to other administrative officers.

The College personnel engaged in individual efforts in this regard may, with the permission of the immediate supervisor or administrator, utilize College facilities in research and development efforts insofar as such use does not interfere with the normal operations of the College and expendable materials so used are replaced.

College personnel engaged in the development of copyrightable or patentable materials must comply with existing copyright and patent law.

Nothing in these policies shall prohibit the College or its faculty from the fair use of a copyrighted work for the purposes of teaching, scholarship or research, nor shall this policy be interpreted to impose limitations or restrictions upon the use of copyrighted materials by the College or its faculty for purposes exempt under copyright law.

In the event that good faith negotiations between the parties do not result in mutual agreements as to ownership, profit sharing, or other provisions of this section, then the Board of Trustees shall consider and resolve the impasse. Both parties shall be represented. The Board of Trustees shall make the final decision.
